As a healthcare executive for over 30 years, Carolyn Caldwell took the helm of St. Mary Medical Center just four months ago. She was most recently CEO with the Desert Regional Center (Palm Springs) and also served as President of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce (2016-2017). While in Missouri she was an active Rotarian in the Lee's Summit Sunrise Rotary Club.

President's Message

St. Mary's CEO Carolyn Caldwell. The new chief of this institution so vital to our city is one of us and we are excited to hear her take on the always apropos subject of healthcare.

We also enjoy a visit from District Governor Ian Hicks who has earned our respect by transforming dull obligations into vibrant gatherings and by respecting the real tradition of our organization--using service as an opportunity to bring good people together.

There are a myriad of opportunities for Rotarians to enjoy each other in the coming days: fast cars, golf, skeet, a District Dinner at the Nixon Library and an Evening Dinner Focus that turns the lens on us. I plan on sparing the golfers of my lousy game and enjoying everything else. This glorious period of fellowship leads up to a celebration of our 100th birthday with Rotary International President Ian Riseley in the middle of next month. Party with old friends, make new ones, enterprise with solid people and enjoy your club.
